Aging Whiskey

Whiskies do not mature in the bottle, only in the cask, so the “age” of a whiskey is only the time between distillation and bottling. This reflects how much the cask has interacted with the whiskey, changing its chemical makeup and taste. Whiskies that have been bottled for many years may have a rarity value, but are not „older“ and not necessarily “better“ than a more recent whiskey that matured in wood for a similar time. After a decade or two, additional aging in a barrel does not necessarily improve a whiskey.

Swedish Whiskey

Whiskey started being produced in Sweden in 1955 by the now defunct Skeppets whiskey brand. Their last bottle was sold in 1971. In 1999 Mackmyra Whiskey was founded and is today the largest producer and has won several awards including European Whiskey of the Year in Jim Murray’s 2011 Whiskey Bible and the International Wine & Spirits Competition (IWSC) 2012 Award for Best European Spirits Producer of 2012.

Midleton Very Rare

Irish Whiskey / Midleton, Ireland

4cl € 35,60

History

It was launched in 1984 to celebrate the whiskeys produced in Midleton. A new vintage is released every year. Each bottle is individually numbered and signed by the Master distiller. It is distilled at the same location as the more affordable Jameson whiskey. In September, 2014, to commemorate the 30th or Pearl anniversary of Midleton Very Rare Irish Whiskey, Midleton Distillery invited their Master Distiller Emeritus Barry Crockett out of retirement to join his successor and current Master Distiller Brian Nation in producing a special anniversary expression of just 117 bottles of Midleton Very Rare 30th Anniversary Pearl Edition.

Blend

As the name suggests, the whiskey is produced in limited quantities. Only 50 casks are released each year, it is therefore both expensive and collectible. The whiskeys used in the blend are handpicked by the Master distiller, all are triple distilled and have aged between 12 and 25 years in individually selected Bourbon or Sherry casks. As a new vintage is created each year, each differs slightly and has its own character.

Hågmoar

Whiskey from Salzburg, Austria

The perfectionist – Distillery Siegfried Herzog
"To be in a few areas better than others, makes you more successful rather than to be in many areas as good as the others" - a philosophy which brought Siegfried Herzog the title "Distillerie of the Year". The basic knowledge of distilling he learned from his father. That his product is well known across the border is because of his own passion for his work. With his first Pinzgauer Whiskey "Hågmoar" the master distiller earned a lot recognition. The whiskey contains 80 % barley malt and 20 % spelt. Four years it is stored in oak barrels, which are embedded in sweet meadow herbal hay. Hay originating from the Großglockner as well as his own spring water gives the whiskey a malted, spicy sweetness and delicate nutty note. A perfect taste experience for whiskey lovers.

Mackinlay's Shackleton Rare Old

Highland Malt Whiskey | Highlands, Scotland

4cl € 38,00

Mackinlay's Rare Old Highland Malt Whiskey and the story that surrounds the creation of this remarkable Scotch Whiskey is one of the world's truly great tales. A commemorative bottling of some of Scotland's greatest malts that have been aged for 8 to 30 years have come together in tribute to a whiskey that was found entombed deep in the Antarctic ice nearly 100 years after being left there by Ernest Shackleton and his expedition team from 1907. The Rare Old Highland Malt was ordered by Shackleton to sustain his team as it was considered one of the classic Highland malts of its time. Unfortunately, the journey was cut short of its final destination and three crates of the whiskey were left behind for the New Zealand Antarctic Heritage Trust to find. The discovery was flown to Scotland to be analyzed and after careful and painstaking deconstruction, all of the elements of the original whiskey were identified and have been reproduced in this very limited bottling of Mackinlay's Rare Old Highland Malt Whiskey.

Bunnahabhain 12 years old

Single Malt Scotch Whiskey | Islay, Scotland

4cl € 25,50

Bunnahabhain 12 Year Old Single Malt Scotch Whiskey is matured in combination of used sherry and bourbon casks, before it is bottled without the use of chill filtration. As a result, the whiskey has an aroma of honeyed nuts, wheat and salty tang. The aroma gives way to notes of sherried nuts, spices, toffee and rich leather on the palate, and fades into a long, slightly sweet and spicy finish.

The whiskey earned the Double Gold Medal at the San Francisco World Spirits Competition in 2011 and 2012 and earned the Gold Medal at the International Wine and Spirits Competition. In addition, it earned a score of 94 points from the Whiskey Bible.

About Golden José Cuervo Especial

In 1758, Don José Antonio de Cuervo was issued a land grant by King Ferdinand VI of Spain in the town of Tequila, Jalisco. Here his family founded the Taberna de Cuervo, the farm where they would cultivate and harvest the flowering blue agave plant, a water-retaining plant found in central Mexico, that is distilled to create tequila. The first VINO Mezcal de Tequila de José Cuervo was made in 1795, after Don José Antonio de Cuervo's son José María Guadalupe de Cuervo was granted a permit from King Carlos IV of Spain to produce tequila commercially, following a time of prohibition under King Carlos III. This was the birth of the tequila industry.

By 1880, the Cuervo family had begun individually bottling tequila for commercial distribution. Cuervo was the first distiller to bottle tequila, at a time when other distillers were still using barrels. Tequila was known as „mezcal de tequila“ until 1893, when tequila makers and the Mexican government dropped „mezcal“ from the name. Cuervo's first bottled tequila was sold in 1906.

WHAT A FLAVOUR

This Organic Aquavit has a clear note of Caraway in the scent, combined with the berry freshness from St. John's wort. Fresh peels from organically grown lemon and oranges contribute with citric, almost Christmas-like tone. The distillation in small copper pot stills adds a round sweetness. Oak maturation in American Quercus Alba complement the herbal peppery tone with sweet vanilla and fudge, behind the first sip a scent of coffee and liquorices are released. Addition of a small portion of locally harvested honey supplements the long aftertaste with oily sweetness. Pleasant is the word.
